* Required Fields

    your PHI to your health insurer to obtain reimbursement for your health care or to determine eligibility or coverage.
    - "Health Care Operations" are activities that relate to the performance and operation of the practice. Examples of disclosure for health care operations are for quality assessment and improvement activities, business related matters such as audits and administrative services, and case management and care coordination.

II. Use and Disclosure Requiring Authorization

We may use or disclose PHI for purposes outside of treatment, payment and health care operations when your appropriate authorization is obtained. An "authorization" is written permission above and beyond the general consent that permits only specific disclosures. In those instances when asked for information for purposes outside treatmen, payment and health care operations, we will obtain an authorization from you before releasing your psychotherapy notes. "Psychotherapy notes" are notes we have made about our conversations during a private, group, joint, or family counseling session, which we have kept separate from the rest of your medial record. These notes are given a greater degree of protection than PHI.

You may revoke all such authorizations (of PHI or psycho-therapy notes) at any time, provided each revocation is in writing. You man not revoke an authorization to the extent that (1) we have relied on that authorization or (2) if the authorization was obtained as a condition of obtaining insurance coverage, and the law provides the insurer the right to contest the claim under the policy.

An authorization is obtained for using or disclosing (1) PHI in a way that is not described in this Notice, (2) psychotherapy notes, (3) PHI for marketing purposes, and (4) PHI in a way that is considered a sale of PHI.

III. Uses and Disclosures with Neither Consent Nor Authorization

PHI may be used or disclosed without your consent or authorization in the following circumstances:

- Child Abuse: if you provide information which leads to suspicion of child abuse, neglect, or death due to maltreatment, it is required that this be reported to the county Department of Social Services. If asked by the Director of Social Services to turn over information from your records relevant to child protective services investigation, we must do so.
- Adult and Domestic Violence: If information you provide gives reasonable cause to believe that a disabled adult is in need of protective services, we must report this to the Director of Social Services.
- Health Oversight: The North Carolina Psychology Board has the power, when necessary to subpoena relevant records should a Delta provider be the focus on inquiry.
- Judicial or Administrative Proceeding: If you are involved in a court proceeding and a request is made for information about the professional services that have been provided to you and/or the records thereof, such information is privileged under state law, and we must not release this information without your written authorization or a court order. This privilege does not apply when you are being evaluated for a for a third partry, e.g. for evaluation for disability or where the evaluation is court ordered. You will be informed in advance if this is the case.
- Serious threat to Health or Safety: ou confidential information my be disclosed to protect you or others from a serious threat of harm by you
- Workers' Compensation: If you file a workers' compensation claim, we are required by law to provide your mental health information relevant to the claim to your employer and the North Carolina Industrial Commission.
- When the use and disclosure without your consent or authorization is allowed under other sections of Section 164.512 of the Privacy Rule and the state's confidentiality law. This includes certain narrowly defined disclosures to law enforcement agencies, to a health oversight agency (such as HHS or state department of health), to a coroner or medical examiner, for public health purposes relating to disease or FDA regulated products, or for specialized government functions such as fitness or military duties, eligibility for VA benefits, and national security and intelligence.

IV. Patient's Rights and Provider Duties

Patient Rights:

- Right to Request Restrictions: You have a right to request restriction on certain uses and disclosure of PHI about you. However, we are not required to agree to a restriction you request
- Right to Receive Confidential Communications by Alternative Means and at Alternative Locations – You have the right to request and receive confidential communication of PHI by alternative means and at alternative locations. For example, you may not want a family member to know that you are seeing a provider at Delta. Upon your request, we will send your bills to another address.
- Right to Inspect and Copy – you have a right to inspect or obtain a copy (or both) of PHI in you mental health and billing records for as long as the PHI is maintained in the record. We may deny your access to PHI under certain circumstances, but in some cases, you may have the decision reviewed. At your request, we will discuss with you the details of the request and denial process.
- Right to Amend – you have the right to request an amendment of PHI for as long as the PHI is maintained in the record. We may deny you request. At your request, we will discuss with you the details of the amendment process.
- Right to an Accounting – You generally have the right to receive an accounting of disclosures of PHI for which you have neither provided consent nor authorization (as described in Section III of this notice). On your request, we will discuss with you the details of the accounting process.
- Right to Restrict Disclosures When You Have Paid for Your Care Out-o- Pocket. You have the right to

Psychological Services

Welcome to our practice. Participation in therapy can result in a number of benefits to you, or your children, including improving interpersonal relationships and resolution of the specific concerns that led you to seek therapy. Working towards these benefits, however, requires effort on your part. Psychotherapy requires your very active involvement, honesty, and openness in order to change your thoughts, feelings and/or behavior. Our staff will ask for your feedback and views on therapy, its progress and other aspects of the therapy, and will expect you to respond openly and honestly. Sometimes more than one approach can be helpful in dealing with a certain situation. During evaluation or therapy, remembering or talking about unpleasant events, feelings or thoughts can result in you experiencing considerable discomfort or strong feelings of anger, sadness, worry, fear, etc. Our staff may challenge some of your assumptions or perceptions or propose different ways of looking at, thinking about, or handling situations that can cause you to feel very upset, angry, depressed, challenged or disappointed. Attempting to resolve issues that brought you to therapy in the first place, such as personal or interpersonal relationships may result in changes that were not originally intended. Psychotherapy may result in decisions about changing behaviors, employment, substance use, schooling, housing or relationships. Sometimes, another family member views a decision that is positive for one family member, quite negatively. Change will sometimes be easy and swift, but more often it will be slow and even frustrating. There is no guarantee that psychotherapy will yield positive or intended results. During the course of therapy, our staff is likely to draw on various psychological approaches according, in part, to the problem that is being treated and our assessment of what will best benefit you. These approaches include, but are not limited to, behavioral, cognitive- behavioral, cognitive, psychodynamic, existential, system/family, humanistic or psycho- educational. All persons have permission to seek emergency medical care while at Delta Behavioral Health, PLLC.

Confidentiality

All information disclosed within sessions and the written records pertaining to those sessions are confidential and may not be revealed to anyone without your written permission. We at Delta, work as a team and may share your specific case information with other staff while maintaining your confidentiality. The information shared is only to assist you (client) in receiving better services and for purposes of helping Delta with quality improvement activities. Health insurance companies may also require certain medical information in order to justify services. Only the minimum necessary information will be communicated to the carrier. Our staff will not release records to any outside party unless we are authorized to do so by you, the client, and all adult family members who were part of the treatment. At Delta minors may seek and receive periodic services from a physician without parental consent in accordance with G.S. 90-21.5

By law, the staff at Delta are mandated reporters when there is a reasonable suspicion of child, dependent or elder abuse or neglect. In addition, if our staff becomes concerned about your personal safety or the possibility of you injuring someone else we will do whatever we can, within the limits of the law, to prevent you from harming yourself or others and to ensure that you receive the proper medical care.

Custody Evaluations

Delta does not do custody evaluations and will not make recommendations regarding custody. With your written consent, however, we will speak to custody evaluators.

Therapeutic Relationship

Therapy never involves sexual or any other dual relationship that impairs our staffs' objectivity, clinical judgment or therapeutic effectiveness. In order to respect your confidentiality our staff will not acknowledge working with anyone without his/her written permission. This includes bumping into our clients out in the community. Despite the sometimes-intimate nature of the therapeutic process the relationship between the client and his/her therapist is a professional one. Consequently, our staff will always uphold the standards of care and ethical codes dictated to us by our respective boards and state laws.

Cancellation

Since the scheduling of an appointment involves the reservation of time specifically for you, a minimum of 24 hours notice is required for rescheduling or canceling an appointment. Unless we reach a different agreement, and if regulations allow the full fee will be charged for sessions missed without such notification. Most insurance companies do not reimburse for missed sessions.

Complaint and Appeals

Delta reviews and processes all complaints and provides feedback to the person filing the complaint within 72 hours if desired. Regarding appeals, it is our goal to assist persons served at Delta with reaching satisfaction regarding their concern within the constraints of our operations and to that end, will continue to work to resolve all issues within the organization. Complaint forms are available in the lobby or can be requested at 910-343-6890. In addition, both Trillium and DHHS maintain complaint lines. Trillium can be reached at 1-866-998-2597. The consumer care line in Raleigh is 1-800- 662-7030. Client has the right to refuse treatment without threat of termination of services and that consent can be withdrawn at any time.

I have carefully read the above Agreement and Office Policies and General Information, including Delta's team and confidentiality, carefully. I understand them and agree to comply with them:

Crisis Information

If a suicidal act or gesture has occurred, we will not take a phone call from you for 24 hours unless it is an emergency.

It will be considered an emergency if your behavior has resulted in the need for medical intervention; if medical intervention is needed, the call will focus on getting the necessary medical intervention to you, and only a medical intervention. We will process problems you were experiencing at your next therapy session, and will work to schedule a session as quickly as possible. If you call us for help, you will need to tell us where you are and what you have done. If you are not prepared to tell us these things, do not call in an emergency.

If you have made a suicide plan and think you might not be able to stop yourself from going through with your plan, we want you to call us instead – and call before you act on the plan. If you call, you must accept the help that is given. Remember, your judgment is clouded at those times of distress, and calling us is what you have managed to do to help yourself. Since you are not able to think clearly enough to solve your problems at that time, you must be willing to accept the help given. If you are unwilling to accept the help, do not call.

Our first choice is not to refer you to inpatient hospital. We will work with you to identify a safety plan such as having a friend or relative stay with you until you can come to a therapy session. However, you need to know that we will utilize hospitalization if it becomes necessary to help you get through a distressing time.

If you call us for help, you will be calling knowing these guidelines and limitations.
